A PIONEER DEAD
Mrs. Jennina A. Smith, mother of Harvey Smith of Mt. Angel, passed away suddenly at her home in Silverton early Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Smith was in her usual health when she retired Tuesday evening, and during the day previous to her death she visited among her neighbors. About one o'clock Wednesday morning Mrs. Smith noticed her making some unusual noise. He went to her side and found her unable to speak. She passed away a few moments later.

Mrs. Smith had suffered two slight strokes of paralysis some time previous and it is thought that the third occurred on the night of her death, affecting her heart.

Mrs. Smith was one of the pioneers of Silverton, having lived there since her early childhood, and her whole life has been spent in trying to comfort her friends.

Deceased was born near St. Louis, Mo., May 23, 1839. Her maiden name was Taylor. She came to Oregon with her parents in 1847 and settled near Sublimity. In 1857 she was married to Solomon Smith and moved to Silverton the same year, where she has since resided. She is survived by her husband, four children and a brother, namely: Mrs. M. D. Ramsey, of Silverton; Harry Smith, of Mt. Angel; Fred Smith, of Silverton; and Mrs. Thos. Cowing, of Portland. W. Taylor, of Port Orchard, Wash., is her brother. All the surviving relatives were present at the funeral.—Mt. Angel Tribune.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. A Galley o' Fun!

AN UNHAPPY LOVER.
Tom—Was Jack much effected by Miss Marbleheart's refusal?
Dick—Very much. And what made him feel particularly mortified was to find that his heart was not broken.

NOT AMUSED.
Uncle Jabez—Oh, no! everybody ain't laughin' at Reuben fer buyin' the green goods. He wishes everybody was.
Uncle Hiram—How's that?
Uncle Jabez—Well, his wife ain't.

A SECOND-HAND CAR.
(What friends and acquaintances said when Jonesy bought one.)
The Boys at the Club—Say, Jonesy, did someone wish it on you, or are you running it on a bet?

His Partner—It might come in handy as a delivery-wagon, except that it would scare our horses to death.

His Wife—Anyhow, it runs, and that's more than the Smyth's can say about theirs, I guess!

His Son—Gee, it's a great car! Perkins, His Neighbor—Say, Jonesy, can't you make some arrangements to keep that pile of junk at a garage? The infernal noise the dratted thing makes has got my wife's nerves worn to a frazzle.

His Grocer—Yes, your gasoline bill is rather high, but that's a fine car you've got, Mr. Jonesy, even if it does take a lot of gasoline to run it.

The Man Who Sold It to Him—What's that? I'm sure the cylinder wasn't cracked when I sold it to you, Jonesy. O no, my new car isn't old that make at all. You see, that old car makes almost too much noise for me. I'm glad you like it; I thought you would. Ha, ha!

Jonesy Himself—!!! &$$ **!!!

A THEORY.
"So Cholly has taken up horseback riding?"
"Yes, I suppose he wanted to see how he looked in riding clothes."

PERFECT.
"I wish I were nearer perfection," I said.
As I sat on the sofa with her: The lamp threw a halo of gold o'er her head.

Her breath was like orris and myrrh.
"That's easy," she said, with a smile in her eye.
A trick she had gathered from Venus.

And then, with a laugh and fluttering sigh,
She cast out the pillow between us.

MUNICIPAL ENTERPRISE.
"Well, if that don't beat anything I ever saw!" exclaimed the citizen of Froese with considerable agitation. "What won't that board of trade over at Boomburgh do to get a crowd down to their measly little four corners?"

"What they been up to now," inquired another citizen.
"Why, I jes' found out that they had posters printed invitin' everybody to come to Boomburgh and take in the total eclipse of the sun!"

Hop Interests Divided Between Bulls and Bears

Apparently two opposing interests are furnishing yield statistics to the press of the valley. First will appear a set of figures showing the increase in certain yards over the yield of 1914. Next will appear other figures showing the decrease in other yards, from the yield of last year. It is apparent that certain "bear interests" are trying to make the yield appear as large as possible, and the opposing interests are trying to make the yield appear as small as possible. Below are given "bear" figures and the "bull" figures:

Small Crop
Hee Chung, last year 750 bales, this year 250 bales.
Mahoney & Breed, last year 396 bales, this year 173 bales.
Kennedy, last year 460 bales, this year 125 bales.
Dittmar, last year 340 bales, this year 120 bales.
Sohn, last year 380 bales, this year 100 bales.
R. Gouley, last year 280 bales, this year 100 bales.
Ed Cavanaugh, last year 103 bales, this year 60 bales.
Marty, last year 129 bales, this year 65 bales.
Gus Aral, last year 6 bales, this year 31 bales.
Ed Worf, last year 87 bales, this year 36 bales.

Some of these are small crops but they are taken merely to indicate the outlying yards throughout the state and this is believed will lower the state yield to considerable less than 100,000 bales for the year.

Large Crop
E. C. Horst, this year, 5200 bales, last year, 3800 bales.
Frank Minton, this year, 1400 bales, last year 1200 bales.
C. A. McLaughlin, this year, 2350 bales, last year 1657 bales.
George Rose, this year 1400 bales, last year 1200 bales.
W. W. Percival, this year 900 bales, last year 650 bales.
Wigan-Richardson Co., this year 2500 bales, last year 1800 bales.
John Roberts, this year 900 bales, last year 600 bales.
George Lewis, this year 1000 bales, last year 600 bales.
Julius Pincus, this year 750 bales, last year 530 bales.
Sperling Brothers, this year 650 bales, last year 420 bales.
Ike Patterson, this year 800 bales, last year 600 bales.
T. A. Livesley & Co., this year, 800 bales, last year 1600.

John Cooper, this year 550 bales, last year 400 bales.
Julius Wolf, this year 1400 bales, last year 1000 bales.

The Oregon Hop Growers association insists that 80,000 bales will be the maximum limit of this year's crop, with a small figure probable. Salem and Portland dealers declare these figures at least 20,000 bales too low. They believe that the 1915 crop will fall but little short of last year's crop, which was 132,000 bales.

While the Independence section shows at least a normal crop, the upland hop districts, like Silverton, Mt. Angel, Ballston, Sheridan, Aurora, etc., are from 30 to 50 per cent short of normal crop. Lane county is about normal, and the average crop in the other hop districts are decidedly short.

Though the local dealers have received orders, there is little or no activity in the hop market, 10 cents being the maximum price buyers are willing to offer. The entire world's hop trade is almost at a standstill, though in New York there has been some demand at 25 to 27 cents for choice New York hops, for export to England through that country is taking no Pacific.

The hop situation is very peculiar this year, said a grower today who has been in the business 18 years. England has less than half a crop, and in addition to this, is shut off from the German markets. The crop in this country is also short, and according to estimates now to be obtained, the world's crop this year, is the smallest it has been since 1882. Yet in spite of all these conditions, the price offered now is very little above the price of production, which is estimated at 11 cents.—Aurora Observer.

Statue Modeled In Butter At Fair Is Attracting Comment
One of the exhibits at the fair which has never failed to draw expressions of wonderment is the "Say please" statue of the Hazelwood creamery of Portland shown in the dairy building. Two figures are shown one a young girl holding a piece of bread and butter in her hand and a tiny tot of a boy who wants it, of course. She is making him say please before she will give it to him. He has dropped his rag doll and every other thought has flown from his mind but bread and butter.

The statue of the girl is about four and one half feet high and the entire composition required about 200 pounds of butter to form the statue. The sculpturing was done by Howard Fisher, of Spokane. Mr. Fisher is not a butter maker, Oh, heavens No, he is an artist and also models in clay and does base reliefs and such things. He was employed to mould out a suitable figure for an exhibit by the Hazelwood company and the group shown is his own conception of a suitable figure.

To make the statue he was compelled to work in the cold storage room at the Hazelwood plant and all of the work was done at a temperature of below zero. He would work for about 20 minutes and then go outside and thaw out for about 15 minutes before he returned to work. In all it took about two weeks to complete the work.

The Hazelwood company was awarded the Grand Diploma on the statue and the first prize on its butter scoring 95 points.
